PILOT PROJECT IMPLEMENTATION PLAN AND TRAINING INITIATIVE

April 2016
CSKT PILOT PROJECT IMPLEMENTATION PLAN
AND TRAINING INITIATIVE

INTRODUCTION

The Confederated Salish and Kootenai Tribes’ (CSKT) Pilot Project Implementation Plan and Pilot Training Initiative is the third phase of CSKT’s Sustainable Economic Development Project funded by the Administration for Native Americans (ANA). The first two phases of the Project set the groundwork for this third phase.

Phase I began with the formation of an interagency, interdisciplinary Project Steering Committee that partnered with the University of Montana Bureau of Business and Economic Research to conduct a Job and Training Needs Survey of Tribal members living on the Flathead Indian Reservation. With 771 members responding to the survey, committee partners created the CSKT Sustainable Economic Development Study (Study) document which includes a description of the Flathead Reservation economy, regional job trends and employment opportunities, and the results and analyses of the Tribal member survey including career and training interests, employment and educational status, and barriers to employment and training. A second survey, the results of which were also incorporated into the Study, was administered to Tribal business owners to specifically determine business owner training needs.

Phase II of the Sustainable Economic Development Project entailed development of a Sustainable, Comprehensive Economic Development Strategy/Plan which summarized the history and resources of the Reservation, analyzed the Reservation’s economic strengths, weaknesses, opportunities and threats, and reviewed Tribal and other entities’ plans and goals for economic development, infrastructure development, climate change, pre-disaster planning, and more. Ideas discussed at multiple steering committee meetings, meetings with Tribal Elders, and other public meetings helped the CSKT Tribal Council prioritize several goals and multiple action steps for Flathead Reservation economic development. Two of these goals relate to worker training and assistance for small business owners:

- Educate, Train and Provide Work Experience for Tribal Members for Today’s and Tomorrow’s Employment Opportunities
- Assist Tribal Member Entrepreneurs and Prospective Entrepreneurs with Access to Capital, Training, and Other Business Development Needs to Stimulate the Private Sector and Decrease Reliance on Tribal Government Employment

Phase III, the Pilot Training Initiative, involves development of a CSKT Pilot Project Implementation Plan and Pilot Training Initiative. The Project Implementation Plan includes input from CSKT departments and corporations, as well as local and state entities, and was developed by the Project Steering Committee comprised of Project staff and partners. Staff members include Project Director Janet Camel and Project Assistant Kyle Hendrickx. Project Partners include Steve Clairmont (S&K Business Services and Sovereign Leasing and Financing, Inc.), Ruth Swaney (CSKT Finance Office), Arlene Templar and Kelly Whitworth (CSKT Department of Human Resource Development), Debra Krantz and Martina Nolte (Lake County Job Service), Marie Hirsch and Carol Cunningham (Lake County Community Development Corporation [LCCDC]), Sandra Boham, Traci McDonald and Terri Cordier (Salish Kootenai College), Donna Mitchell (Kicking Horse Job Corps Center), Heather Sobrepens-George (Montana Department of Commerce Native American Business Development Program), and Tom Acevedo (S&K Technologies). We also worked with Shannon Hahn (Montana Department of Transportation Disadvantaged Business Enterprise [MDT DBE] program), Robert Much and Johnel Barcus (Native American Development Corporation [NADC]), John Balsam and John Repke (Kalispell Small Business Development Center [SBDC]), and Lad Barney and Heather Handeland (USDA Rural Development).

The goal of the Pilot Training Initiative is to provide timely, customized, workforce training and other support to meet the training needs of Tribal members and/or Tribal member entrepreneurs on the Flathead Reservation. Extensive collaboration with identified Tribal and other community partners was used to provide:

a) professional skills training, as guided by the Plan and Study, during Quarters 2-4 of FY 2016, at a frequency of at least one (1) service package to at least 8 Tribal members; and

b) business development support and resources, as guided by the Plan and Study, during Quarters 2-4 of FY 2016, at a frequency of at least one (1) service package to at least 8 Tribal member entrepreneurs and prospective entrepreneurs.

STRATEGY – Professional Skills Training

The strategy for CSKT’s Professional Skills Training is to provide sustainable training opportunities for Tribal members to build careers that have living wage job potential.

STEP 1: Identify CSKT member career and training interests and areas of job growth that provide a livable wage. During the summer of 2014, CSKT worked with the University of Montana (UM) Bureau of Business and Economic Research to mail out the Job and Training Needs Survey to over 3,000 CSKT members. More than 770 members, ages 18-60, responded to the survey and identified their career and training interests.¹

Also in 2014, the UM Bureau of Business and Economic Research identified occupations where job growth has been increasing in Western Montana at a rate of at least 1% per year. The following table lists those occupations that were projected to add the most jobs from 2014-2023, along with the average wages for those occupations. Highlighted occupations are those that unemployed Tribal members said interested them most (shaded yellow), and those in which they were most interested in receiving training (shaded green).

¹ The complete results of the survey are included in the 2014 CSKT Sustainable Economic Development Study: A Profile of the Flathead Reservation Economy and Tribal Member Job and Training Needs located on CSKT’s Economic Development webpage at http://www.csktribes.org/services/economic-development.

STEP 2: Develop a Workforce Training Directory for the Reservation and get the word out about existing job training opportunities. CSKT Economic Development Office (EDO) staff worked with Project Steering Committee members from Salish Kootenai College (SKC), Kicking Horse Job Corps, Job Service, the CSKT Department of Human Resource Development (DHRD), and others, to develop a Workforce Training Directory to describe the various job training programs that currently exist on the Flathead Reservation.

Many of the interests highlighted in the previous table have corresponding training programs that already exist on the Flathead Reservation, but some of these have age restrictions (such as those offered by Kicking Horse Job Corps which typically only accepts students who are 16-24 years old). And, while Salish Kootenai College added a few new programs for the 2015-2016 school year as a direct result of the CSKT Job and Training Needs Survey, more programs are needed.

The Steering Committee is spreading the word about existing job training programs by:
- Publishing and distributing the Workforce Training Directory
- Using the CSKT Job and Training Needs Survey results to contact 250 survey respondents. These respondents provided their contact information and gave permission for CSKT to use their survey responses to connect them to training opportunities that align with their training interests. CSKT EDO staff members identified which permittees desired training in the following categories and provided their contact information to Kicking Horse Job Corps and Salish Kootenai College staff so they could directly contact these consenting survey respondents about job and education training opportunities:
  - GED (now called HiSET) training to receive a High School Equivalency Certificate
  - Vocational training in a craft or trade
  - Academic training at a college or business school
- EDO staff members have presented the job training strategy at public meetings and are gathering contact information from other Tribal members who may be interested in receiving information about job training opportunities. Staff are also using Facebook, KSKC-TV, the Tribal Intranet, and the Char-Koosta News to inform the membership.

STEP 3: Identify and Address Training Gaps. The ANA Project Director and others have identified gaps between the Tribal member training interests highlighted in the previous table, and the training resources identified in the Workforce Training Directory, and are pursuing the following to address those gaps:

- Offering a free business-related training program for those interested in Financial Clerk or Specialist occupations.

2 The EDO developed mailing lists for each category with the contact information provided by the survey respondents. If a respondent did not provide an e-mail address when answering the survey, but granted permission to be contacted, the EDO obtained his or her U.S. Postal Service address.
Financial Clerk or Specialist is one of the top occupation interests of Tribal members ages 18-36, according to CSKT’s 2014 Job and Training Needs Survey responses.

Financial Clerk occupations have an annual growth rate of 1.4% in Western Montana, 167 annual openings, and an average wage of $31,120. Financial Specialist occupations have an annual growth of 1.6%, 76 annual openings, and an average wage of $54,440.

Business administration, management, and operations is the top ranked education or training program of interest of female Tribal members.

The CSKT Economic Development Office and Steering Committee recommends further development of a program to train and assist Tribal members who want to start a new business or expand an existing micro-business.

- Applying for an ANA Sustainable Employment and Economic Development Strategies (SEEDS) grant to expand and create training opportunities for health care providers, hospitality workers (including food and beverage servers, cooks and culinary arts professionals), carpenters, and more. These trainings would be offered through Salish Kootenai College with stackable training certificates that may be taken during one quarter or one year. For those wishing to pursue more training, these shorter training segments could complement the College’s two-year Associate’s and four-year Bachelor’s degree programs. CSKT is also exploring an arrangement with the Montana Code School and DHRD’s Transit Program to provide transportation and training for individuals to become “junior” computer programmers during a 12-week long “programming boot camp.”

- Working on a Job Succession strategy for those Tribal jobs that are projected to become available as individuals retire and contracts expire, with CSKT’s Education Department working to encourage Tribal members to obtain higher education degrees in fields where opportunities will be arising.

- The DHRD Department Head’s recent appointment to Montana’s State Workforce Innovation Board should improve access to state training resources that may be able to be provided locally.

- DHRD is also exploring the possibility of establishing a vehicle maintenance training program.

STEP 4: Assist Tribal members in Overcoming Barriers to Employment and Training. A critical component of the Professional Skills Training Strategy is to assist Tribal members in overcoming barriers to employment and training. These barriers are summarized here, and are further described in Chapter 4 of the CSKT Sustainable Economic Development Study.

Almost half of the Tribal members who responded to the Job and Training Needs Survey said that their household struggled with two or more of these barriers.

More than 4 in 10 Tribal members (43.4%) said that a lack of money for education or training made it harder for them, personally, to get or keep a job, job training, or more education. Around 3 in 10 Tribal members said they faced a lack of computer skills, lack of education, lack of job skills training, or lack or work experience. About 20.2% said they lacked job search training.

To address these barriers, the Project Steering Committee has incorporated the following into the Professional Skills Training strategy:

- Identify and Develop Free Job Training Opportunities. Provide free training in business-related classes for those interested in financial clerk occupations. Continue to spread the word about free training courses in other fields as they arise.

- Link Members to Free Computer Training. Free computer classes are available to CSKT employees and are offered by CSKT’s IT Department. Set up free Computer Skills Training for those not employed by CSKT (funded by DHRD, with recruitment coordinated with the DHRD mentoring program and Social Services Department clients).

- Spread the Word about Free Job Search Training. This training is currently offered by CSKT’s Department of Human Resource Development, Kicking Horse Job Corps Center, and the different county Job Service Offices (see Workforce Training Directory). To assist more members, set up semi-annual or quarterly classes at Tribal Headquarters with a Job Service trainer (who has sustainable funding) to provide free job search training.4 (See Appendix A for additional information about Job Service training.) It is important that these trainings are coordinated with the DHRD mentoring program and with Social Services Department clients.

✓ Spread the Word about Apprenticeship and Work Experience Programs (See Workforce Training Directory for a list of programs.) Continue working with Salish Kootenai College, DHRD, and local employers to provide apprenticeship and work experience opportunities.

In addition to the barriers identified on the previous page, Tribal member survey respondents also noted the following as the most important barriers to a job, job training, or education:

✓ lack of transportation
✓ problems associated with disabilities and health
✓ discrimination
✓ criminal charges or addiction
✓ no driver’s license

To address these barriers, the Project Steering Committee recommends the following:

✓ Continue to Provide DHRD Transit Services for Training and Work Experience Programs (requires 24 hour notice for pick-up).
✓ Insure Training Facilities are Accessible for the Disabled.
✓ Address Discrimination Issues through Personnel Policy Enforcement and Education.
✓ Continue to Refer Members to CSKT Programs that Address:
  ○ Health Issues
  ○ Criminal Records
  ○ Addiction Issues
✓ Spread the Word that Kicking Horse Job Corps Center offers training for individuals to obtain a driver’s license, and DHRD can pay fees for Workforce Investment Act (WIA) and Temporary Assistance to Needy Families (TANF) clients to obtain a driver’s license.

STEP 5: Provide Training in General Job Skills. The Job and Training Needs survey also asked Tribal members about their interest in general job skills training – customer service and other skills needed for most jobs. The following table summarizes Tribal members’ interest in seeking additional training in general job skill areas.

4 In the Job and Training Needs Survey, more than 1 out of 3 Tribal members (34.8%) said they would attend a training workshop on where to obtain labor market information such as information about job openings. A similar number (31.4%) were interested in learning about resume writing. Only 17.8% said they needed a training workshop on completing job applications.
More Tribal members (44.3%) were interested in technical skills training than any other general job skill training area. However, around 3 in 10 Tribal members expressed interest in so-called “soft” skills like: interpersonal skills (36.0%), organizing (33.3%), and quality improvement or customer service (27.3%). Around 2 in every 10 Tribal members said they were interested in safety training (23.8%), training to further develop reading, writing or math skills (19.4%), or product sales training (18.7%).

To address the top four training interests, the Pilot Training Project will:

- Continue to “Spread the Word” about the Workforce Training Directory and the Technical Skills Training Opportunities that Exist on and near the Reservation. As mentioned previously, the Project will offer business-related classes for those interested in financial clerk occupations, and continue to spread the word about free training courses in other fields as they arise.

- Set up classes at Tribal Headquarters for a Job Service trainer (with sustainable funding) to provide free training on “soft” skills development, including interpersonal skills, time management and basic customer service training. (See Appendix A for additional information.) This training would be coordinated with the CSKT Social Services Department and DHRD to assure the training is held at a time most convenient for their clients.

- Work with Tribal Departments to Fund a Half-day Customer Service Training

The Char-Koosta News is posting training flyers on their Facebook page.
Annual Tribal Business Owners Meeting
On April 27, 2016, CSKT’s EDO is sponsoring an annual meeting with Tribal member business owners and prospective owners to distribute training and resource information, listen to concerns, and develop additional strategies as needed. PILOT TRAINING PROGRAM
Utilizing as many free training opportunities as possible, the CSKT Economic Development Office set up the following free Pilot Training Program to provide members with hands-on business/workforce development courses, with an emphasis in Finance, that aligns with Montana Department of Commerce Indian Equity Fund, CSKT Business Assistance Project, Eagle Bank, and Tribal Credit Program grant and loan application processes. The Pilot Training Program also assists Tribal members with identified barriers to employment by providing training opportunities and linking them to services that can break down those barriers. The Project is providing free flash drives for students attending classes where they will be developing work products for future use.

TRAINING SCHEDULE AND EXPECTED OUTCOMES

Appendix B includes the Pilot Training Program schedule. All classes and networking opportunities would be completed by mid-September to allow time for Pilot Initiative evaluation.

Impact Indicators (ANA Grant Set A) - By the end of the project, the CSKT Sustainable Economic Development Pilot Initiative will provide training opportunities and support for up to sixteen (16) Tribal members and/or entrepreneurs plus the nine (9) Tribal member entrepreneurs served per year prior to the grant for a total of twenty-five (25) members served. This work will be completed by the end of Project Year 3 which ends on September 29, 2016.

The total numbers served will be documented utilizing:
- EDO Grant Recipient Lists from Fiscal Years 2013-2016
- S&K Business Services/Sovereign Leasing and Financing’s technical assistance report from Fiscal Year 2016
- Training and Workshop Sign-in Sheets from 2016

RECRUITMENT PLAN

The EDO and Project Partners will utilize the methods outlined on pages 12 and 13 of this Plan to communicate with Tribal members about available training opportunities. The EDO will continue to update its e-mails lists of Tribal member business owners, and work with Project partners to also recruit business students at SKC and members of the American Indian Business Leaders organization.
Incentives/Prizes: The following incentives will be offered at the trainings and workshops:

- Meals will be provided at many of the training and workshop sessions.
- Continuing Education Credits will be offered for each training class.
- Pens, lanyards and letter openers will be offered to participants, courtesy of Kicking Horse Job Corps Center and SKC.
- A new, laptop computer will be given to the student who attends the greatest number of classes, paid for by a grant from Lake County Community Development Corporation.

SUSTAINABILITY

Professional Skills and General Job Skills Training

To insure sustainability of the professional and general job skills training opportunities identified in this Pilot Training Initiative, CSKT will:

- Continue to work with Job Service for free career counselling, soft skills and job search training.
- Continue to utilize the DHRD Mentoring Program and trainings sponsored by DHRD, including computer literacy training.
- Review evaluations from classes offered in 2016, to determine which classes were most beneficial and should be offered in future years.
- Continue update, distribution and promotion of the Workforce Training Directory so clients can learn about additional training and apprenticeship opportunities.
- Continue to promote the Annual SKC Career Fair.
- As funding allows, work with DHRD and other Tribal departments to set up Job Shadowing and/or On-the-Job Training, Internship and Apprenticeship opportunities for Social Services and DHRD clients and other unemployed Tribal members, in desired fields.
- Seek funding for a Sustainable Workforce Enhancement and Entrepreneurship Initiative to enhance and establish curriculums for certifications in healthcare, building trades and hospitality, and to find job placements in those industries.
- For those interested in further training, we will refer individuals to:
  - Kicking Horse and other Job Corps Centers -- Free vocational training, including room and board, for students 16-24. Their websites or CSKT’s Workforce Training Directory describe the training programs offered. Individuals can contact a recruiter at 1-800-733-5627 to sign up.
  - Salish Kootenai College (SKC) which also provides advanced training. Scholarship monies are available. Members can visit their website or look at CSKT’s Workforce Training Directory for a list of degrees and training certificates offered. Their application form is available online, and their Enrollment Services Office is available to assist with filling out applications Monday-Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. The application for financial aid is an online form at www.fafsa.gov, and SKC’s Financial Aid Office (275-4857) is available to assist with the application process M-F, 8-4:30, and also has scholarship information available. Financial Literacy Training

Business Development Support and Resources

To insure sustainability of entrepreneur training and resource opportunities after ANA funding ends, CSKT will continue to coordinate free or minimum-fee trainings provided by the Small Business Development Center (SBDC), Lake County Community Development Corporation (LCCDC), and Montana Department of Transportation (MDT) Disadvantaged Business Enterprise (DBE) Program. This training process will utilize the following guidelines:

- Work with Native American instructors when possible, including instructors from the Native American Development Corporation.
- Use the Indianpreneurship Training Manual developed by ONABEN. Budget for the manuals through the Economic Development Office, unless they can be obtained from the MDT DBE or a Native American SBDC office.
- Ensure that the teaching space has computer access and is accessible for the disabled.
- Offer all courses for Salish Kootenai College continuing education credit.
- For those unable to attend training, continue to recommend Montana Department of Commerce Native American Business Assistance (MDOC NABA) program, SBDC or MTCDC Business Plan templates, or software like Business Plan Pro, to assist members without a business background in business plan development.
- Continue to utilize S&K Business Services for one-on-one follow-up with entrepreneurs and potential entrepreneurs. These services are partly funded by grants from the Montana Department of Commerce Native American Business Assistance program.
- Recruit members who are most likely to complete the courses by targeting Tribal members who already own businesses, and those members who reported in the 2014 Job and Training Needs Survey that they have an interest in a finance profession or in starting a business.
• Explore a “Lean Manufacturing” training opportunity.
• Review evaluations from classes offered in 2016, to determine which classes were most beneficial and should be offered in future years.
